Colorado Blue Spruce

This slow grower can add to your festive decor indoors, but especially excels outdoors on a patio or in the landscape

Sunlight

Give these plants 6 or more hours of sun each day

Water

Water thoroughly when the top 2-3 inches of soil are dry.

Ensure the pot has drainage holes and well-draining soil, as these trees are very sensitive to waterlogged soil. Cut back on watering in the winter.

Hardiness

Hardy to zones 2-7, can be safely kept outside in a pot throughout the winter in our climate.

In fact, giving this tree three months of winter exposure will ensure enough dormancy for more growth come spring!

MEANS NURSERY INC.

Follow us on Facebook!
@Means Nursery

Follow us on Instagram!
@meansnursery

If bringing indoors, it is best to slowly acclimate to avoid shock