Sunlight

Give these plants bright, indirect sunlight. As they are native to the Eastern United States, they will be more forgiving of lower light and temperature than tropical houseplants.

Water

Water thoroughly when the top 1/2 inch of soil feels dry. Ensure the pot has drainage holes and dump any excess water from saucers to prevent root rot.

Yellowing leaves can be an indicator of overwatering.

Hardiness

Hardy perennial in zones 3 to 8, they will survive the winter outdoors in containers. Indoors they will prefer cooler temperatures between 55-65F. Keep away from hot or cold drafts.

If bringing indoors, it is best to slowly acclimate to avoid shock
